

September 5 - 7, 2018 Presenters

Andrew Potts is a partner in the Tax Credit Finance & Syndication practice of Nixon Peabody LLP where he structures and closes financing for historic preservation and other community-based development projects. He served as the Executive Director of US/ICOMOS from February 2015-August 2016. Andrew is the symposium facilitator.

Donovan Rypkema is principal of PlaceEconomics and president of *Heritage*Strategies International. Working at the nexus of historic preservation and economic development, Rypkema is rwidely recognized as an international expert. He has undertaken assignments in 49 States and 50 countries.

Everett L. Fly, a native and resident of San Antonio, practices as a licensed landscape architect and architect. He is a Fellow of the American Society of Landscape Architects. President Barack Obama awarded him one of ten 2014 National Humanities Medals for his body of work preserving the integrity of African-American places and landmarks.

Graciela I. Sánchez follows in the footsteps of her mother and abuelitas, strong neighborhood women of color cultural workers and organizers in San Antonio.

Graciela saw her entire neighborhood torn down in the 1970s. As Buena Gente of the Esperanza Peace and Justice Center she works with community stop the further destruction of working class communities in San Antonio's Westside.

Dr. Jonathan Mabry is Director of Community Engagement for the College of Social and Behavioral Science at the University of Arizona. He was an early leader in the local and heritage foods movements in southern Arizona, and co-authored the application that obtained Tucson's UNESCO Creative City of Gastronomy designation. He serves as the President of the community-based non-profit organization managing the designation.

Juan de la Serna is an architect who directs Peru's Cultural Heritage and Development Program. In his role, he oversees Peru's Escuelas Taller, a collection of preservation trade schools that originated in Spain. The schools serve to not only preserve tangible heritage but to ensure authentic cultural traditions of building trades are taught to future generations and aid in the prosperity of the community

Dr. Juliana Forero is an anthropologist with a PhD in Urban Studies from Huazhong University of Science and Technology (China) and M.A. in Social Anthropology from Andes University (Colombia). She coordinates the Intangible Cultural Heritage Group of the Ministry of Culture of Colombia. Previously she worked in cultural heritage management at the City Hall of Bogota and the Ministry of Culture of Colombia.

Julianne Polanco is the State Historic Preservation Officer for the State of California. She has served as a commissioner on the California State Historical Resources Commission since 2005 (for the last three years as Chair), and as Director of Cultural Resources for Lend Lease since 2006. She was Senior Preservation Specialist at the Presidio Trust from 1999 to 2006, and Assistant to the Vice President for programs at the World Monuments Fund from 1998 to 1999.

Shanon Shea Miller, AICP, became the City of San Antonio's Historic Preservation Officer and Director of the Office of Historic Preservation (OHP) in November 2008. Under Shanon's leadership, the OHP staff supports the Historic and Design Review Commission, oversees implementation of the 2009 Strategic Historic Preservation Plan and leads the OHP Academy that includes S.T.A.R. (Students Together Achieving Revitalization) Program.

Sharon Veale is Chief Executive Officer and Partner at GML Heritage. She brings a wealth of expertise and over 15 years of experience in Aboriginal and historic cultural heritage. She specializes in urban planning, heritage impact assessments, and interpretation.

Tim Frey is the Historic Preservation Officer for San Francisco where he directs the City's Historic Preservation Program as lead staff to the Historic Preservation Commission. He is currently is on the board of the National Alliance of Preservation Commissions.

Theresa Pasqual is the Native American Liaison for Glen Canyon at the U.S. Department of the Interior. She served as the director of the Pueblo of Acoma Historic Preservation Office from 2006 to 2014 where she was responsible for the protection of cultural and historic resources on the reservation and within ancestral homelands. She served as an advisor for the National Trust for Historic Preservation. She specializes in the identification and designation of traditional cultural landscapes and is an expert in working with multiple stakeholders.